RE: Siblings, APs & Call-Ups

There have been increasing instances of siblings attending practices as well as AP/Call-Up rules not being followed.

Effective immediately siblings are not to take part in practices.

AP and call-up procedures must also be adhered to. If a team is short players for a practice the coaching staff will communicate a need for players to their manager. The team manager will then contact the manager of the AP team to request players. The manager/coaching staff of the AP team will then decide which players will move up. In the case of Pee Wee and Bantam teams players may be called up on a positional basis. All players should be given a chance during the season to move up for practice purposes. For game situations the same procedures should be followed however, managers/coaching staff of the AP team should be cognizant of players' abilities and skill levels in moving up to play in a game.

Information regarding the mentorship program and that process will be sent out in the future.

Thank you,
